

Classroom Instruction***

---

The major responsibility of an instructor at NCCC is to provide effective instruction. This responsibility includes preparation and planning, both long-range and immediate; understanding and applying sound professional teaching methods; and developing and maintaining effective professional teaching methods; and developing and maintaining effective student, faculty, and community relationships. The instructor must conduct himself/herself in such a way as to set an example of good citizenship and to command the respect of the students at all times.

*Covered by PEA Negotiated Agreement